Men and Women, Achievement Day will be observed Sunday, May 19, at 3:00 P. M. Dr. William H. Gray, Jr., will deliver the principal message. He comes with a rich background of experience, training and service. He has served in the field of education for some years. It was at Florida Normal and Collegiate Institute where he made his mark that promoted him to the presidency of the Florida A. and M. College. This school is one of our largest land grant colleges of this country. The graduates from this school are many and they are found in various walks of life in many of the states of the United States. They are found in leadership capacities throughout the country. They have been trained in the institution where Dr. Gray is now doing a great piece of work.

Dr. Gray has served as classroom teacher, high school principal, supervisor of extension instruction for teachers in the service and president of a college. He has been a contributing writer to leading periodicals, pamphlets, magazine and articles for a book.

Under his dynamic leadership, Florida A. and M. College is in the midst of a huge expansion program which will be renovation of Dining Hall and Cafeteria and the erection of a $400,000.00 hospital and nurse training center and a girl's dormitory and gymnasium. What a program! This is making education be felt in and among people.

His message will be fraught with information and inspiration. Hence, it will be a treat for anyone to hear him on this occasion.

If a job is worth taking it should be worth doing well. On any job and on all jobs you should do your best, and you should put all that you know to do to make it worth while.

Clean up at all times for both private and public appearances. Never attempt to make contacts without you have looked after your personal appearance as it should be looked after. Always take time out to be clean and tidy in all things and it will be a blessing to you and to those that you contact.

Never look down upon anyone. Remember, all people belong to the common family — the dust of the earth. Help the ordinary man and he will be made able to help the other fellow who needs the attention of those who will have compassion upon people. Do your duty at all times. This is a duty by everybody.
