Salam Comrade,

Received your 4-4-75 scribe today, i will move on the things you asked about for the brother's. We've got contacts in Philly plus will have C. look into something around the city. In reading Black history i've learned to appreciate Martin L. King, the Nation of Islam, and many more who have paved the long road we as a people have traveled, it has also broadened my perspective, the struggle takes place on many levels, as i pointed out in "Constant Action, Time, & Will."

In the last few months i've been trying to remove myself in relation to putting forth ideas & views as i feel, within the Collective others have ideas & views that might be more relevant and in accord with the people's level of consciousness. As for other peoples views i have & will remain open to them, in fact most of the things i write about come from listening to others. I strive to be selfless but recognize i have a long, hard, struggle but with the help of Allah, it may become a reality. One of the things i've always been grateful for is within myself i know my weaknesses and admit them. I didn't go into a rage at what you said, for all i know it may be true, and like you said "never fear the truth". In my studies it is stated the ego is the biggest obstacle to spiritual liberation and i try to kill it within myself. As i stated in my last letter, there was things within me that i needed to recognize within myself. Self love is something i'll have to look into for the concept is strange to me, i know that survival means alot to me but never at the expense of friends or Comrades. The bitterness i projected is gone once i saw it for what it is. The people always come first strange as it may seem my primary reason for wanting out is to be in a better position to serve them but that may be ego tripping too for other people have the abilities and dedication to serve them equally if not more than me. The freeing of mankind cannot be subjected to an individuals personal likes & dislikes so it would never interfere with my working with people of different perspectives, that's another reason for taking those steps to remove myself from any position that might interfere with getting things done. As for being dogmatic on promises, i may make a firm stand but reality, conditions, can alter the best of intentions.

We are having people check out some building law's in Jersey, it seems if you pay the back taxes & fix up a house, you become the owner, the idea is to do this so as to get a foothold in the community, a house, storefront, then sell stuff from door to door, there's more to it but you might get the general idea. The money that was ripped off went into a fish fry "The Peoples Fish fry", i was told the next piece of money was to go to you but no moves have been made on another sting. I'll check on it.

C. was suppose to see the brother yesterday about that piece, the trials been over two weeks now, today i found out we go back on Tuesday 29th for some type of hearing seems one of the jurors may have been tampered with, then we go back on the 12th for sentencing, so still got a shot. C. has been a good comrade and will do all he can for you & others. He's not the blame for the delay, some T.E. that was used on the last attempt was gotten by him and i am turnap that over to the vads in B'klyn.

The need for secrecy is cool, what i have been working on is the establishing

3- of effective lessons so everyone is kept abreast of developments.

That day the jury came in every pig and his father was there, 3 Black men standing waiting for the words, Guilty, but they won nothing. Allah has truly been merciful to me, funny how you said through struggle you find who your real friends are, this protective struggle (trial) has revealed that, everything happens for a good reason.

The color picture is of Cassata's daughter she gave it to me at one of our meetings. Whanti has a beautiful daughter also, Janet brought her daughter Malkia to court & so did Fla, who is suppose to send me a picture also, then I'll pass it on to you.

You've become a hell of a woman, capable of making decisions and looking at things in depth and that's a good thing, others I know are doing the same, so we as a people will reach that level of consciousness to take us to victory. May Allah guide & protect you always.

Marty Stoboff was called before a federal grand jury investigating fugitives & some people the sister knew some time back had moved to the Bronx and the F.B.I. paid them a visit. Move carefully. Did you get that picture of Kiki? He'll enjoy hearing from you, I do. Sub must be learning the blood talks better than I do and has a sharp mind. Keep your spirit up & take care. For the first time in a while I am ready to face you without fear, thanks to the grace of Allah.
