

January 28, 1991

Dear Frankye,

I want to apologize for not waiting to speak with you last time. You are a good friend, and you deserve better. The truth is that I was just confused and, I guess, a little upset. But that is no excuse for not seeing you and listening to you, especially since your letter was really very honest and understanding. Please forgive me.

Yours ever,

David