

بِسْمِ اللَّهِ الرَّحْمَنِ الرَّحِيمِ

Please be unto you Malika,

Your letter touched me & i tried to call you that same night. I had Safiya dial as we can only have 15 people on our phone list. So if i call it'll be like that but we'll have our privacy, Insha-Allah.

At the moment i am doing okay - no pain, putting on weight and gaining strength. My mental & spiritual attitude is good and i try not to worry or get excited. I am pretty much straight on a plot, who will conduct my jawaza. Now i need to get my writing together and finish up my bio.

Like all people i've made mistakes and even regret a few things but overall i am pleased with my life & the people who have contributed to its growth. My regrets aren't related to any major event. I don't like being here but i don't regret it, i guess i have no regrets just sorry for missed opportunities. I treasure our time, i came to realize it was not the quantity of time but quality.

Well gotta go, look forward to seeing you in april, Inshallah. Take care.

With Revolutionary Love

Wah

Thank you for the B-day wishes & loving words. Cora & Brandon remarried last sept. & today's her B-day.
