Dear Moore,

I'm not completely recovered yet from my downfall. But I'm recovering and I'm determined to make it, regardless of what it takes. Nobody's going to make an ass out of me.

I'd taken some time off from school, but I'm back in now, and I did well on my final exams. The only thing that went wrong is that my English professor refused to give me a final, because I had taken too many days off and got an (F) ~~in~~ in my English class. I had a (B) before, but that's life. Anyway, I'm going to summer school to get my average back up to par.

Then I really would be on the ball again, this time a little more determined than before. I refuse to repeat the same mistakes over again.

Now aren't you proud of me,

Love, Huey
