

Thursday Morning

Beloved Wife,

Sending you some pictures + books. I don't know if they will allow me the court visit and Gilbert wants to see Raymond. When he asked to see Tommy before they brought him in the back, being a P.A. W. has it's draw backs in personal relationships if for no other reason that the swine are scarce even of our children. It would mean a great deal to me to hold you for even a minute but I expect very little from our enemy, In-ash-a-Uah we may but I feel certain Allah has something better in mind in His own time. Did you talk with your sister about those things? Let me know tomorrow (Friday). Keep faith Malika, trust in Allah. It was really a blessing seeing little Nuh, he's so alive, there are so many things we have to be grateful for. I didn't ask him (Wah) if he remembered me for its obvious he does, the mind of children is like fertile soil, rich with much nourishment. He does pretty good with the greetings also better than alot of adults. To hear him talk of Black names shows that consciousness is raised by information feed to it. You better get him in the habit of brushing his teeth, show him how to do it. Well I started this right after Salat this morning it was cloudy now the sun is out and I am in the bullpen. Inwardly I feel good and the sunny skies are nothing more than a manifestation of it, Al-Hum du-ah-Uah. How powerful or bad can our oppressor's be Malika, they cannot stop the sun from shining nor the wind from blowing or make the tide stay out. Some say's everything works towards its own negation yet it is only a process of creation, the boy gives way to the man and the biggest tree bows to the wind and the process of life goes on, as the wind passes so does the tree stand up right. Allah is merciful and mighty there is no doubt in my mind. Nothing can withstand what He has decreed.

and my love we have blessings coming. Last night there was a thunder storm and flashes of lightning could be seen I even heard the rain beating on the sidewalk how good it sounds, even nature is angry because we are separated and cut loose with righteous rage. If Allah be for us; who, can stand against us? For now that's about it will see you tomorrow Insh-a-Allah.

Go Salam Alaikum
Nikh

Read Surah 87 and 88 also Mussalāt (Those who are sent Forth). you demonstrate how harmonious we are I write something and you put it in a beautiful setting, do you think Allah would let such a team be parted too long?
